Business Charges Lookup - Internal

Your delivery cost + markup + what you can charge. Routine labour: ₹100-₹200/hour. Specialist engineering: ₹500/hour. All 68 services and 12 industry examples are retained. Amounts are before applicable tax. HighLevel INR rates use illustrative ₹95/USD, not a live exchange rate.

What the charge column includes. The service charge covers only the stated delivery labour and its markup. Add the separately listed platform allocation, paid modules, PAYG, vendors and selected support. It is not an all-in package price.

How ranges work. Low = fewer estimated hours at the low labour rate and low markup; high = more hours at the high rate and high markup. Choose the actual scope/rate first. Rupee markup = cost × markup percentage; charge = cost + markup.

HighLevel cost vs actual bill. Your plan, account invoices and usage were not supplied. H/U rates are published planning inputs, not a claim about your actual spend. Choose your existing plan, allocate its cost once per paying location, and check live tariffs before quoting.

Simple quote structure. One-time: delivery charge + actual one-time vendor purchases. Monthly: allocated platform + selected add-ons + billable usage + vendor subscriptions + selected support. Apply each line's own markup; count shared/included work once.

Select cost layers, not every option. Message channels and paid tools shown in a row are alternatives or optional dependencies unless the scope requires them. Email-only reminders do not require WhatsApp or phone rental. Reuse subscriptions already paid; avoid stacking optional AI plans on PAYG unnecessarily.

Markup policy. The India-focused bands are suggested pricing guidance, not measured market averages. Software and usage default to at cost; optional 0-10% administration markup is shown. Client ad spend, rewards and gateway fees pass through at cost. The customer catalogue uses the same service-charge ranges and default at-cost recovery for software/usage; any optional administration markup requires a stated custom quote.

Start with the service lookup. H tables = fixed HighLevel costs; U = HighLevel usage; V = external suppliers; Support = your separate service allowance.

QUICK REFERENCE

Markup: percentage and rupees

Every service row includes your labour cost, absolute markup and suggested delivery charge. Keep platform, usage, vendors and support as separate quote lines.

Type	Markup on cost	When to use this band
Repeatable small setups	15-30%	Forms, a basic booking page, a simple tracker, supplied-asset QR work or training. Use the low end when the scope is clear and an existing template genuinely saves time.
Routine configuration and websites	20-40%	Normal setup, follow-up, bookings, reviews and business operations. Bespoke website/design work can use the creative band.
Creative, branded and AI configuration	25-50%	Original design/edits, member experiences, tested AI configuration and branded builds. Use actual production and testing hours.
Custom integrations and engineering	30-60%	Custom tools, two-way connections, error handling and bespoke software. Unknown requirements need discovery costed separately before a fixed quote.
Recurring managed work	20-35%	A defined monthly allowance for editing, reporting, campaign work or support. Price the reserved hours, even if the customer does not use every hour.
Combined industry implementations	20-35%	A scoped complete solution. Reconcile shared setup time before applying the band; cost specialist custom components separately.
Paid software and metered usage	0-10%	At cost by default for price-sensitive buyers; modest markup only for agreed billing/administration. Quote actual FX/collection costs separately in the cost base. Charge meaningful management work separately.
Ads, rewards, commissions and client spend	0%	Pass through at actual cost or let the client pay directly. Any procurement or management work is a separate explicit service line.

For routine work costing ₹1,000: 20-40% markup = ₹200-₹400, so the labour-only charge is ₹1,200-₹1,400. For an actual paid tool costing ₹950: optional 0-10% = ₹0-₹95, so software-only recovery is ₹950-₹1,045. These examples use a fixed cost base; service ranges below combine different effort and rate endpoints.

Labour hours come from granular-services-prices-reference.md, but its older labour costs/resale bands are superseded here. All delivery/support values use your requested rates. This catalogue retains 68 services and 12 bundles; the granular reference remains the full app/function index.

Native India beta lacks SMS/MMS, Voice AI, IVR, recording and transcription. Payment and app availability depend on exact account, country, gateway and route. Unknown/restricted tariffs need confirmation; included usage/shared setup is not counted twice. Sales effort, rework and general overhead reduce net profit.
